The use of the trademark Teflon has been noted in this application. It should be capitalized wherever it appears and be accompanied by the generic terminology.

Although the use of trademarks is permissible in patent applications, the proprietary nature of the marks should be respected and every effort made to prevent their use in any manner which might adversely affect their validity as trademarks.

Claims 12, 21, and 24 contain the trademark/trade name Teflon. Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used properly to identify any particular material or product. A trademark or trade name is used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name. In the present case, the trademark/trade name is used to identify/describe a form of plastic and, accordingly, the identification/description is indefinite.

It is suggested that "Teflon" be changed to -PTFE- or -polytetrafluoroethylene-.

Claims 34 and 35 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 34 is dependent on claim 35, and claim 35 is dependent from itself.

Art Unit: 3753

Claims 12-13, and 19-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The use of "stop body" (claim 19, lines 6, 8 and claim 33, line 5) is not understood. The term is not used in the specification and seems to be the same as "shut-off body". If both terms mean the same thing, then all instances of "stop body" should be changed to "shut-off body". If they are different items, further clarification (and amendment to the specification) is necessary. With respect to claim 33, every term is recited as though introduced for the first time ("a device", "a stop body", "an actuating device"), even though it is dependent from claim 19. The claim recites all the subject matter of claim 19. It is suggested that the dependency of the claim be eliminated; the claim can stand alone as an independent claim just fine, and in fact would be allowable.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 12-13, and 19-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by McGuire et al. (3,133,722). McGuire shows a cylindrical shut-off body 25 that moves in a PTFE liner 24 attached to a split shut-off body housing 16. The nut on the lower extremity of the valve is seen as the actuator. Alternatively, the specification calls for a manual member to be attached at the bottom. Connecting device 17 is threaded on the outside to secure the valve housing 16 to the tap insert 10.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over McGuire et al. in view of Buchholz. Buchholz shows a very similar device, including an externally threaded connecting device and a shut-off body housing. However, it uses a ball instead of a cylinder. It would have been obvious to use a ball as shown by Buchholz, instead of a cylinder because the use of ball valves in cartridge valves is well known.

Claims 23-27 and 29-32 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 23-27 and 29-32 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

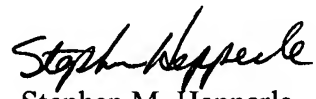

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Battaglia shows a cylindrical valve with a shut-off body 22 in a housing 16, which holds a PTFE liner 19. Matousek shows a valve very similar to Buchholz.
